Know the Signs of Colon Cancer at Any Age

Today's world offers a way to detect cancer before symptoms even start: regular screenings.

Colon Cancer Screenings

Colon cancer is showing up more frequently in younger people. Therefore, it's important to get your colonoscopy as soon as you become eligible, make preventive changes to your lifestyle, and know the signs of colon cancer. "The danger of skipping a colonoscopy is that an undetected tumor in your colon could grow and metastasize to the lymph nodes or even the liver or bones, making it much more difficult to treat," said Hurley.

Signs of Colon Cancer

The purpose of regular screenings is to detect cancer before symptoms arise. Early detection offers the best chance for an ideal outcome should you receive a cancer diagnosis.

However, it's also important to know the possible symptoms of colon cancer, especially if you're under age 45. About 12% of people diagnosed with colorectal cancer are younger than 50, according to the American Cancer Society.

If you experience any of these, talk to your doctor:

- Blood – Watch for blood in your stools or if they appear tar black.
- Fatigue – Anemia, caused by internal bleeding, prevents oxygen from circulating in the blood, causing you to feel tired and look pale.
- Abdominal pain – Discomfort can come from a blockage or constant gas, cramps, or bloating.
- Change in bowel habits – "Bowel habits vary from person to person, so you know what's normal for you," said Hurley. Normal could be going once most days per week or a few times per day. A sudden, unexplained change in bathroom habits should be checked out.
- Weight loss – Cancer cells can affect how your body turns food to energy, which may result in easy, unintentional weight loss.

How to Prevent Colon Cancer

To lower your risk of colon cancer, exercise regularly, maintain a healthy weight, and follow a diet low in fat and high in fiber.

Good colon health starts by talking to your primary care provider. If you're 45 or older, schedule a colonoscopy, or if you're younger than 45, talk to your provider if you have a family history or concerning symptoms. Source: Avera.org

Mike's Words of Wisdom...

"When you're 20 you care about what everyone thinks, when you're 40 you stop caring what everyone thinks, and when you are 60 you realize no one was ever thinking about you in the first place." Winston Churchill

This quote kind of hits home because when we are 20 and ready to take on the world, we are so concerned about what others think of us and trying to impress others. At 40, we transition into not caring about what anyone thinks of us and that we will do what we want. Then at age 60, we figure out that no one really cared what we did. I do think that through this journey of life we have to enjoy the ride and deal with things as they come our way. Whether it is challenges with health, wealth, or happiness, how we react to them will determine our success.

At Stan's, we are continually trying to be optimistic and work toward improving processes and customer service by improving communications and efficiencies. Each day we have the choice to view the world as if the glass is half full or half empty. Below are 7 strategies for filling up your cup of optimism. Try it, you might like it.

- Set Your Intentions. Positive attitude. Make it a great day.
- Do Something Outside Your Comfort Zone. You won't know if you don't try.
- Reframe a Problem into an Opportunity. Solve it and move on to the next one.
- Avoid Energy Vampires. Soar with the eagles, don't hang out with the turkeys.
- Carry Yourself Like an Optimist. Be confident because you know.
- Lighten Up. Have fun doing what you're doing. Laugh a little.
- Exercise. It relieves stress and promotes a healthy lifestyle. Just Do It!

Speaking of optimists...I want to congratulate all the Stan's employees that earned MPG and Safety incentives during 2023. Stan's paid out $292,753 total for MPG and Safety incentives in 2023. The percentage of team members that received safety and MPG incentives was over 98%. That shows Stan's, as a team, is doing things right by putting the savings in our pockets and not into the fuel tank, and by not having accidents or violations that cost Stan's money. It keeps our expenses down so we can share with those that saved the money. One of our biggest accomplishments in safety is that we have gone over 750 days without a loss time accident! That means no one has been injured at work for over 750 days, which is great! Our challenge is to continue doing what we have been doing by being safe and saving fuel. Doing the right things for the right reasons is a Win Win for everyone!

Thanks for all you do to support the success of Stan's, which is all of us!
